Time: 10.00am GMT / 1.00pm GST

Duration: 45 minutes

Overview:

Join ideasUK for our next webinar exploring a challenge facing almost every modern organisation: how can we as individuals, and our teams in the work environment, be more digitally connected than ever before, yet feel less bonded, engaged and aligned in driving improvement?

In “Hyper-connected yet under-bonded: The effects on Continuous Improvement”, we will examine how constant communication, hybrid working and increasing operational pressures can unintentionally weaken collaboration, trust and the shared ownership that continuous improvement depends upon.

Featuring practical insights and real-world case studies from Wye Valley NHS Trust, this webinar will showcase how organisations can rebuild engagement, encourage meaningful participation and create stronger improvement cultures in demanding environments.

We hope this session will provide thought-provoking discussion and practical ideas to take back into your own organisation.
